

New-York Tribune.

New York, Sept. 11, 1868.

107

Dear Sir:

I regret that your article on Rosevears & Lee did not reach me sooner, so that I should have been able to find it. But in a newspaper, each day's comments must deal with the day's news - we cannot review the book of moments of last week.
 So I do not we should be able to find a newspaper where I should be able to see your

Ms. I hope you will write on about the Rylands, com-densing the history of the democratic party as to their political, but as to their moral & economic. Yours Horace Greeley.

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]